

Jordan is tired of supporting big corporations. He wants to start buying from small Black owned businesses.

Jordan goes online and searches for "black-owned business marketplace". He comes across The Kindred Exchange.

Jordan browses through the categories, finding candles, art, and accessories.

Jordan finds a necklace he really loved while browsing and places an order. He was ecstatic about shopping directly from a small Black-owned business.